

ORGANIZATION OF SEARCH AND EVACUATION OF REENTRY VEHICLES AND CAPSULES

© 2006 V. A. Popov

Federal administration of aircraft space search and rescue

The paper considers various aspects of organization of search and rescue provision (SRP) for aircraft flights and space object evacuation. Currently available statistical data on quantitative and qualitative composition of forces and means used are given. These are obtained on the basis of the analysis of the results of operations performed. Ways of increasing the efficiency of search and rescue provision are substantiated.