

APPROXIMATE METHODS OF CALCULATING OPTIMAL FLIGHTS OF SPACE VEHICLES WITH LOW-THRUST ENGINES. PART I

© 2007 V. V. Salmin, V. V. Vasilyev, S. A. Ishkov, V. A. Romanenko,
V. O. Sokolov, O. L. Starinova, V. V. Yurin

Samara State Aerospace University

The first part of the paper presents mathematical formulations of the tasks of optimizing flights of space vehicles with low-thrust engines and methods of their solution. The peculiarities of mathematical motion models used for control optimization within the frames of different tasks are discussed.