

TAKING ACCOUNT OF STRESS CONCENTRATION DEGREE WHEN FORECASTING THE FATIGUE STRENGTH OF STRENGTHENED PART

©2009 V. A. Kirpityov

Samara State Aerospace University

It is established that the coefficient of residual stress influence on the endurance limit decreases as the stress concentration degree increases.

Stress concentration degree, endurance limit, residual stress influence coefficient.

References

1. Ivanov S. I., Grigoryeva I. V. Determining residual stresses in a cylinder by removing part of the surface // Issues of aircraft structural element strength. – Kuibyshev: KuAI transactions, 1971 – issue 48. – pp. 32-42.
2. Ivanov S. I. Determining residual stress in a cylinder by the method of rings and stripes. // Residual stresses: KuAI transactions, 1971 – issue 53. – pp. 32-42.
3. Birger I. A. Residual stresses. – Moscow: Mashgis, 1963 – 232 p.
4. Pavlov V. F. Relation between residual stress and endurance limit in case of bending in conditions of stress concentration // Izvestiya vuzov. Machinostroyeniye. – 1986. – No. 8. – pp. 29-32.
5. Peterson R. Ye. Stress concentration coefficients. – Moscow: Publishing house "MIR", 1977. – 304 pp.
6. Serensen S. V., Kogayev V. P., Shneiderovitch R. M. Bearing capacity and strength analysis of machine elements. – Moscow: Machinostroyeniye, 1975. – 488 pp.
7. Birger I. A., Iosilevitch G. B. Threaded connections. – Moscow: Mashgiz, 1973. – 256 pp.
8. Filatov E. Ya., Pavlovsky V. E. A universal machine complex for fatigue tests of materials and structures. – Kiev: Naukova dumka, 1985. – 92 pp.
9. Pavlov V. F., Kirpityov V. A., Ivanov V. B. Residual stress and fatigue strength of strengthened part with stress concentrators. – Samara: Publishing house of Samara Science Centre Russian Academy of Science, 2008. – 64 p.
10. Pavlov V. F., Stolyarov A. K. The effect of surface deformation patterns on residual stress distribution in the concentrator area // KuAI. – Kuibyshev. – 1985. – 7 pp. – Dep. at All-Russian Institute of Scientific and Technical Information 12.11.85. No. 1870-B86.

Kirpityov Viktor Alexeyevitch, associate professor of the department of strength of materials, candidate of technical sciences, associate professor, Samara State Aerospace University, e-mail: sopromat@ssau.ru. Area of research: mechanics of residual stress.