

CREATION OF TERRITORIAL COMPLEX, MULTISTAGE SYSTEM OF MONITORING AND FORECASTING OF EXTREME SITUATIONS OF NATURAL, TECHNOGENIC AND BIOLOGO-SOCIAL CHARACTER FOR TERRITORIES OF THE SAMARA AREA

© 2008 T.G. Gabrichidze¹, P.M. Fomin², I.M. Yannikov²

¹ Senior department of the Ministry of Emergency Measures of Russia on the Samara area

² Senior department of the Ministry of Emergency Measures of Russia on the Udmurt Republic

The system of monitoring and forecasting of extreme situations of natural, technogenic and biologo-social character for territories of the Samara area is developed. The mechanism of gathering, processing and an information transfer for its estimation and acceptance of administrative decisions is described.

Extreme situation, monitoring, forecasting, information processing

References

1. Alekseev, V.A. Principles of multi-step ecological monitoring of chemical weapons storage and destruction sites / V. A. Alekseev, T. G. Gabrichidze, V. I. Zabolotskikh – in the Digest “Federal and Regional Problems of Chemical Weapons Destruction”, M., RAS, 2002.

2. Gabrichidze, T.G. A multi-step ecological monitoring of chemical weapons storage and destruction sites, Dissertation / T. G. Gabrichidze – UdSU, Izhevsk, 2002 – 145 pages.

3. Gabrichidze, T.G. Organization of a complex security system of critically important installations on the Udmurtskaya Republic territory. Civil Security Technologies / T. G. Gabrichidze // Scientific-technical bulletin of RF EM, 2006. – No. 3(9).

4. Gabrichidze, T.G. Organizational principles of a system for multi-step ecological monitoring and its conjugation with AIUS RSCHS / T. G. Gabrichidze, I. M. Yannikov // Industrial Ecological Security – 2007, No. 5(7). – Pp. 37 – 18.

5. State Standard P 22.1.12-2005. Security in Emergency Situations. A structured system of engineering systems monitoring and management. General requirements.

6. Federal law of 12.21.2004 No. 68-F3 “On protection of population and territories in natural and technogenous emergency situations”.

7. Principles of public policy in the field of chemical and biological protection of 16. ”.

the Russian Federation till 2010 and in future. Approved by the RF President, 12.04.2003.

8. Principles of public policy in the field of protection of the Russian Federation population and security of critically important and potentially hazardous objects against natural and technogenous threats and acts of terror of 09.28.06, NO. 1649.

9. RF government regulation of 12.30.03 No. 794 (with amendments of 05.25.05) “On a unified state system of emergency prevention and elimination”.

10. RF government regulation of 05.16.05 (ed. 03.23.06) No. 303 “On the distribution of authorities of the federal executives in the field of biological and chemical protection”.

11. RF government decree of 01.28.08 No. 74-r “Concept of the target-oriented federal program “National system of chemical and biological security of the Russian Federation (2009 – 2013)”.

12. RF government regulation of 08.23.07 No. 536 “On the approval of the agreement between the ESM and Samara Region on redistribution of authorities”.

13. RF government regulation of 05.21.05 No. 304 “On emergency classification”.

14. Security Concept for the Samara Region, approved by Samara region governor 03.19.08.

15. RF presidential decree of 09.13.04 No. 1167 “On urgent measures for enhancement of efficiency of terror fighting

Gabrichidze Tamazi Georgievich, is head of SD ESM in Samara region, Candidate of Engineering. Research interests: monitoring system, system analysis of information processing management.

Fomin Petr Matveevich, is head of SD ESM of the RF in Udmurtskaya Republic, candidate in Engineering. Research interests: monitoring system, system analysis of information processing management.

Yannikov Igor Mikhailovich, is the first deputy head of SD ESM of the RF in Udmurtskaya Republic, candidate in Engineering. Research interests: monitoring system, system analysis of information processing management, biological monitoring.